LETTER FROM THE BOARD PRESIDENT & EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

"Fiber art has seen a revival in the hands of contemporary artists exploring bold new forms."

—Wall Street Journal, August 14, 2015

We're in the midst of an exciting era for fiber art, and Textile Center is thriving. As we look back at the fiscal year that ended on March 31, 2016, we are proud of the significant milestones we have reached. These include:

- Adopting a new five-year strategic plan that advances Textile Center's legacy through a new era of excellence, innovation, and widespread participation in fiber art. More than 700 people offered insight and opinions through focus groups and surveys during our planning process.
- Launching year-round programming for youth, which includes our new Youth Fiber Art Guild as a cornerstone.
- Starting planning for capital improvements to our facility, which has been our home for the past 15 years.
- Celebrating fiber art through full houses at every exhibition opening this year.

Textile Center's financial health has improved significantly this fiscal year. We've increased earned revenues through our artisan retail Shop, classes, and the World's Largest Textile Garage Sale in April. Also, so many of you have also stepped forward generously through gifts to our Annual Fund, and we have a good base of support from foundations and the Minnesota State Arts Board.

All this is made possible thanks to our dedicated Board of Directors, and our talented and tireless staff. We offer special thanks to Tina Hughes for serving as our outstanding Board President during our 2016 fiscal year, as well as to Past President Donna Peterson who chaired our long-ranging planning process.

TEXTILE CENTER FACTS & FIGURES
13,480 visitors to the building

We thrive because we are more than 1,000 members strong, including 30 affiliated guilds serving quilters, weavers, knitters, needle workers, sewers, smockers, basket weavers, beaders, lacemakers, and more! All are united to support Textile Center's mission to "honor textile traditions, promote excellence and innovation, and inspire widespread participation in fiber art."

Textile Center's vibrancy comes from the thousands of people who view our exhibits each year, attend our classes, and provide exceptional volunteer service. Textile Center is unique as America's only national center for fiber art, and our combination of programs and resources are unlike any other place in the country. We own our building at 3000 University Avenue without a mortgage, and it is just steps from the Prospect Park Green Line stop. An endowment supports exhibitions in the Joan Mondale Gallery.

In our new strategic plan, we have five strategic goals, and they set the direction for our future: 1) Lead the field, 2) Promote Artistic Excellence, 3) Deepen connections with core constituents, 4) Expand and diversify participation, and 5) Secure and invest resources well to sustain Textile Center for future generations.

As fiber artist Candy Kuehn said during one of our strategic planning sessions, "Once you step into Textile Center, you belong."

We hope to see you soon at your Textile Center. Let it be your source for inspiration, as well as a place where you can come together for creativity and community.

Creepy Crawly: An Entomological Investigation of Textile Pattern

Jennifer Angus, March 6 – May 22, 2015

Jennifer Angus' whimsical, provocative exhibition displayed thousands of real insects pinned directly to the gallery walls in continuous patterns referencing familiar textiles, enveloping the viewer in a push-pull of attraction to the beautiful surface design and revulsion at the creepy crawlies.

HGA's Small Expressions 2015: Annual International Juried Exhibit Sponsored by the Handweavers Guild Of America

May 28 – July 3, 2015

For over 30 years, this breathtaking exhibition has showcased the intricacies of fiber art on a small scale, with no piece exceeding 15 inches in any direction. Featuring 28 artists, and juried by Nicole LaBouff, PhD, Assistant Curator of Textiles, Department of Decorative Arts, Textiles, and Sculpture, Minneapolis Institute of Arts (MIA).

Mary Giles: A Retrospective

July 14 – August 22, 2015

A self-proclaimed "fiberist," Giles pairs the traditional basketry technique of coiling with contemporary materials of waxed linen, copper, and iron. She has always been influenced by place—the underwater world of scuba diving, the landscape forms of the Southwest, and the woods and the river of Stillwater, where she now lives. Giles' work has been collected and displayed in numerous museums around the world, and in 2013 the Renwick Alliance of the Smithsonian Museum named her "The Master of Fiber Arts."

You Know Who You Are: Jerome Fiber Artists Project Grant Exhibition 2015

September 3 – October 24, 2015

Emerging artists Sarah Kusa, Becka Rahn, Jennifer Schultz and Kate Vinson were awarded Jerome Fiber Artists Project Grants through Textile Center. Their projects culminated in this exhibition, which included digitally designed and printed fabric, wearable art from adapted vintage patterns, knotless netting, mixed media assemblage, hand and digital printing, and collage.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Youth Fiber Art Guild™

October - May, 2016

In the spirit of 4H, Textile Center piloted the new Youth Fiber Art Guild program in four after-school programs serving low-income families in Minneapolis and Saint Paul from October through May. Thanks to support from the Rosemary & David Good Family Foundation, our teaching artists and guild volunteers delivered eight free monthly fiber art projects at each site, and students learned everything from kumihimo braiding to spinning yarn with a drop spindle.

Four after school-time locations:

- Plymouth Christian Youth Center (PCYC)
- Hallie Q. Brown Community Center
- Neighborhood House
- Eastside Neighborhood Services Luxton Learners

310 total youth participated in 48 meetings with individual teaching artists, and did eight projects from seven different fiber artmaking kits.

World's Largest Textile Garage Sale,

April 7 - 9, 2015

The 15th annual Garage Sale was bigger than ever this year, with 2,221 shoppers, volunteers, and donors participating in the three-day, zero-waste event held in partnership with the University of Minnesota's ReUse Program. Individuals and businesses donated mountains of materials and specialty textile equipment, providing an affordable way for artists, students, those who create, and those who use fiber items for charity to purchase raw materials. $58,487 in gross income benefited Textile Center programming. Surplus materials are donated to schools and other nonprofit organizations.

A Garden to Dye For

Textile Center's Dye Lab and education programs are augmented by the city's only public dye garden located just outside our back door, which allows fiber artists to source and process their materials locally and in an environmentally-sustainable manner. Artists and educators harvest the plants to use for dyeing and demonstrating natural dye techniques. This year, thanks to support from the University of Minnesota Good Neighbor Fund, MN Vikings Partnership Fund, and the Prospect Park Association, the garden has been expanded and enhanced with educational signage.

"I gave my knitting to my mom. She said thank you and spread it around her dresser – it was long!"

STRATEGIC PLAN 2016 – 2021

On December 2, 2015, Textile Center's Board of Directors approved a new five-year strategic plan that advanced Textile Center's legacy through a new era of excellence, innovation, and widespread participation in fiber art.

The planning process explored and articulated needs, opportunities, and new goals for continued organizational service, growth, and vitality. Guided by a Strategic Planning Committee chaired by Donna Peterson, the process included active engagement by the board of directors and staff, and more than 700 people, a majority of them fiber artists, offered insight and opinions through focus groups and surveys.

The plan sets these five strategic goals:

1. LEAD THE FIELD

Assure Textile Center and its artists and makers have a place in the regional and national fiber art scene; and advance the field by bringing credibility and attention to fiber art and craft.

2. PROMOTE ARTISTIC EXCELLENCE

Elevate services for fiber artists and makers to learn, thrive, and share their work, mount exhibitions of outstanding artwork; and establish an online presence that shares their art and work.

3. DEEPEN CONNECTIONS WITH CORE CONSTITUENTS

Do more to foster interactions and relationships with our core of artists, makers, and guilds; enlarge the base of the core constituents who have an existing interest in working with textiles and fibers; enhance Textile Center's visibility and use of the building by current and potential core members; and strengthen relationships with the business and corporate community.

4. EXPAND AND DIVERSIFY PARTICIPATION

Cultivate interest in fiber art and craft and attract more life-long learners to classes and programs; expand commitment to cultural diversity; introduce a new generation of children and youth to the wonders of fiber art.

5. SECURE AND INVEST RESOURCES WELL TO SUSTAIN TEXTILE CENTER FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS

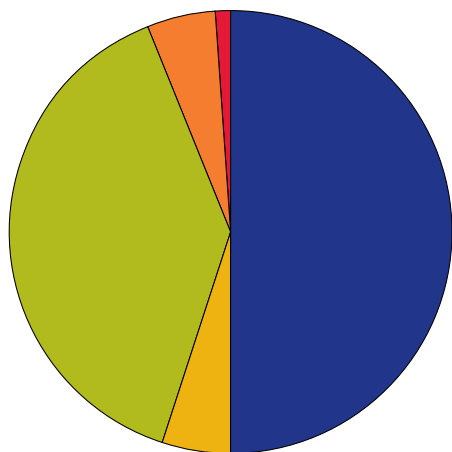

Lead with the best possible team; develop a sustainable economic model to allow for plan implementation and support long-term goals and operating needs; maximize our current facility through necessary physical and technological improvements; be a good neighbor within the Prospect Park neighborhood, particularly related to the Innovation District that spans Minneapolis-Saint Paul, and the METRO Green Line.
